What do we need to do now to make a vibrant, cohesive, enterprising society in 2030?

How can we generate new common narratives about our values and our vision?
Where do we need better data, and how can we gather it?
Is the integration of an extra generation the biggest challenge we face?